Equine Health Studies

Guelph PhD student takes on Leaky Gut in horses

Leaky gut is a topic of interest to researchers and the medical community in other species, but is only just starting to be investigated in horses. Shannon Stanley hopes to address this gap with her project looking at links between nutrition and leaky gut.

Healthcare Tool of the Month - Barn Fire Prevention

Painless Procedure Prevents Future Panic

Fire Prevention Site Visits

No one sees the hidden hazards in your horse barn quite like an expert. One simple call to your local fire department for a site walk through may be the best investment you make to protect your herd.

As advocates of prevention, featuring the Barn Fire Prevention Tool as Equine Guelph's Tool of the Month for November, Equine Guelph and tool sponsor, Heartland Farm Mutual set out to discover the benefits of making that call.
